CRITERION VII – INNOVATION AD BEST PRACTICES

Student Welfare Scheme

- The uniform for students has been introduced from this academic year.
- The mid-day meal for economically weaker students has been introduced from this academic year.
- Initiative to form Bicycle club.

Innovative practice

- To familiarise the police officials to the local language Tulu “Tulu Spoken classes” were convened by the college in collaboration with the Police Department. The feedback from the constables was amazing. They opined that the classes familiarised them with the local language as they were in dire need of learning it . As most of them are outsiders to the district and were new to the language, this course helped them in handling their profession in the District smooth.
- Inspired by the great success of the Tulu Spoken classes the college convened a course on" Byari spoken classes". Byari language being another prominent language of the region, it was found that it is necessary for the police constables to be familiar with the basic knowledge of the language. The course was well received by the police Department and was found extremely useful. This course was convened by the college in collaboration with the Police Department.

Best Practice

- Free Mid day meal scheme for the economically weak students is introduced. It was a long felt need that the staff of the institution had thought about. This year it was materialised with the staff turning donors for the scheme. An approximate amount of Rupees 5 lakh was collected with the donation from the staff. On experimental basis the scheme is introduced free of cost for 150 students. It is planned to extend it to all the students, in the days to come, with the help of seeking donors and also to rope in Government schemes if available.

Conclusion:

Besides the activities falling under seven criteria, the College has been organizing the following activities on regular basis:

- Remedial lectures for weak students: The College conducts remedial lectures for weak students who have not been able to clear papers in the examinations conducted by the University or College. Compensatory lectures were also provided to those students who missed their classes due to illness and other valid other reasons.
- Extra coaching for quick learners: Quick learners and toppers in classes (students who scored distinction) were given extra coaching by the faculty members so as to encourage them to make full use of their potential.
- Feedback: The College gets feedback from the students, alumni and management regularly. Information obtained through feed –back forms important inputs in decision making and policy changes.
- Information about academic and pedagogical activities carried on by students, staff and the University in the Campus is disseminated through Electronic and Print Media Reports, social media and informal channels to stake holders. Department of Journalism has been acting as a connecting link between the College and the media.

Efforts are being made by the College to live up to the expectations of the stake holders by adhering to the high standards for which the Mangalore University is known for.
